Leelu's homemade

Leelu started off at home as a gift for someone you love. Why does she eat cheap unhealthy peanut butter and feed me that? A thought that started me thinking 'how to make it at home?'

The answer to that is what you see now. The world had come to a stop with illegal 'lock-down' on free humans but that did not stop the thinking of creativity in us.

Having thought through, we invested on the small equipment for home and tried roasting the peanuts. They got burned the first time. Gradually, the roasting came through. It taught me patience!

Then the machine came to halt as it couldn't grind the peanuts as whole. A solution came through and lo! The oil started oozing out and the butter was ready. She was happy and me got crazy in joy! Out of love, it started. We shared with friends and the community followed. It is today a community dedication, sending message of strong ethics embedded in each produce, the world over. A tribute to human values, with butterly love! :)

Teak Wood Frames

what gold is to metal; Teak is to wood!

Teak wood frames is a unique endeavor which clarifies and confirms that natural material is not just bio-degradable save contributes to sustainability as well. Teak is understood to be very durable, by not degrading naturally for over centuries.

When this is solved, sustainability is answered alongside bio-degradability. Followed then the question, how it's rival fibre frames which is not bio-degradable has gained the niche marketshare of Teak frames because of artisans shortage.

Like the lathe and turning industry was washed out by industrial machines, the wooden frames industry was washed out faster by the non-biodegradable fibre frames supply. Upon dominating the market, the fibre has grabbed niche market spends by monopoly.

This understanding coupled with mastery of new technologies has empowered us to produce the same old antique value accessories. These brass of national best quality is an outcome of artistic designs executed technologically with the aid of computer software.

After all these efforts in the process, does it become costly? NO! It is competitive enough to claim a significant volume of niche market share. It represents a need across the religious market alongside that of Artists.

"Teak wood frames product is a Treasure." - a renowned photographer.
